

Why should I choose you guys to do my photos? There are a billion printers out there.

Written by Walter Lecroy

Monday, 09 March 2009 15:55 - Last revised Thursday, 19 March 2009

Because at Imaging Arts, we're all about image quality. We'll make your photos look their best. And our ArtSurround processing presents them at their best, as art pieces you'll be proud of. If you are looking for machine prints at rock-bottom price, with no personal attention to image quality, we're not for you.

We're your best value for what we provide:

At Imaging Arts, your images are printed by the same artists and professionals who print the images we hang in our gallery in Charleston, South Carolina (Imaging Arts Gallery). Your images receive individual attention with the aim of presenting them at their best, with rich color, and exceptional tonal range and clarity.

(If you're a pro, and you have your image just like you want it, that's exactly how we'll print it – just tell us. Remember to tag your image with a profile.)

Our technology and equipment are cutting edge. We are an official evaluation site for Hewlett Packard's fine art reproduction program. Our tools and proprietary image management protocols enable us to achieve excellence in image quality at reasonable cost. Our canvas is specially selected for its brightness, surface finish, and archival qualities.

And our unique ArtSurround gallery wrap technique provides an elegant finish to your print – no sacrifice of your image area just to wrap around the frame (an insult to the image), and no ugly blank edges either. ArtSurround, exclusive with Imaging Arts, actually eliminates the need to frame your image to achieve a finished, professional look.

Back to FAQ List